

Katherine Feenan, Public Policy Forum

Prior to joining the Public Policy Forum, Katherine (Katie) Feenan held a variety of positions in the public and private sectors; including roles in the Office of the Prime Minister of Canada, with the Member of Parliament for Vancouver Centre, and with polling firm Angus Reid Public Opinion. Most recently, she spent time working for the National Democratic Institute as a consultant trainer, election observer and analyst in the countries of Georgia and Algeria.

She brings her passion for politics to her role at PPF, where she works with various partners to highlight a wide range of policy areas. One initiative she is currently leading aims to highlight solutions to cyber harassment aimed at women in political life.
