

Vidya ShankarNarayan is a dynamic public sector executive with significant experience leading highly successful, large-scale, transformation exercises.

She is passionately focused on improving and innovating policy and service delivery for Canadians with a vision of designing and implementing simpler, faster, seamless government services.

Vidya is currently Director General, Digital Government at Innovation Science and Economic Development (ISED) where she is leading Digital Policy, Service and Innovation to transform service delivery to Canadian Businesses.

Previously, she worked at Employment and Social Development (ESDC), where she led the digital delivery of social and employment benefit services to Canadians. She has also worked at the Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat, Global Affairs Canada, Passport Canada and Nortel Networks.

Vidya holds a Masters degree in Design and Technology from Carleton University.

In her spare time, she practises yoga and meditation and is a champion for mental health and well-being.